Understanding Behavioral Based Interview Questions

Behavioral based interview questions are designed to assess how candidates have handled various situations in their past jobs. The underlying premise is that past behavior is a strong indicator of future behavior. These questions often start with phrases like "Tell me about a time when..." or "Give me an example of..." and require candidates to provide concrete examples from their work history.

The STAR Method

Candidates can effectively answer behavioral questions using the STAR method, which stands for:

1. Situation: Describe the context within which you performed a task or faced a challenge at work.
2. Task: Explain the specific task you were responsible for in that situation.
3. Action: Detail the actions you took to address the situation.
4. Result: Share the outcomes of your actions, including any lessons learned or improvements made.
