How to cite Clifton StrengthsFinder assessment APA is an essential skill for students, professionals, and researchers who wish to incorporate this widely recognized assessment tool into their work. The Clifton StrengthsFinder, developed by the Gallup Organization, is designed to help individuals identify their unique strengths and talents. As this assessment gains popularity in various fields, including psychology, education, and business, understanding how to cite it properly in APA format becomes crucial. This article will guide you through the process of citing the Clifton StrengthsFinder assessment in APA style, provide examples, and discuss best practices.

Understanding the Clifton StrengthsFinder Assessment

The Clifton StrengthsFinder assessment is a psychometric tool that identifies an individual's top strengths among 34 potential talent themes. Created by Donald O. Clifton and published by Gallup, the assessment has become a staple in personal development and organizational management. The results can assist individuals in career planning, team building, and personal growth.

Importance of Citing Assessments in APA Style

Citing assessments like the Clifton StrengthsFinder is important for several reasons:

- Credibility: Providing citations enhances the credibility of your work by acknowledging the original source.
- Academic Integrity: Proper citations help avoid plagiarism, a serious offense in academic and professional settings.
- Research Support: Citing assessments allows readers to locate the original material for further study, supporting your arguments or findings.

APA Citation Basics

Before diving into specific citation formats for the Clifton StrengthsFinder assessment, it's essential to understand some basic APA citation principles:

1. Author Information: The author's last name is followed by their initials. If there are multiple authors, list them in the order they appear in the source.
2. Publication Date: The publication year should be included in parentheses immediately after the author.

3. Title of the Work: The title should be in sentence case and italicized.

4. Source Information: This could include the publisher and a DOI (Digital Object Identifier) if available.

Citing the Clifton StrengthsFinder Assessment

When citing the Clifton StrengthsFinder assessment in APA format, the specific format will depend on whether you are referencing the assessment itself, the book that explains the assessment, or the online platform where the assessment is hosted.

Citing the Assessment in a Research Paper

When you use the Clifton StrengthsFinder assessment in your research, you can cite it as follows:

Format:

Author, A. A. (Year). Title of the assessment. Publisher. URL (if applicable)

Example:

Gallup. (2001). Clifton StrengthsFinder assessment. Gallup, Inc.
<https://www.gallup.com/cliftonstrengths/en/home.aspx>

This format applies when you are discussing the assessment itself or when the assessment is the primary focus of your work.

Citing the StrengthsFinder Book

If you are referencing the book that includes the assessment, you should cite it differently. The book typically provides context, background, and instructions for using the assessment.

Format:

Author, A. A. (Year). Title of the book. Publisher. DOI (if applicable)

Example:

Rath, T. (2007). StrengthsFinder 2.0. Gallup Press.

This citation is appropriate when you are discussing the theories, concepts, and insights provided in the book, or when you are using data or findings that come from it.

Citing the Online Access Platform

If you are citing the online platform where individuals can take the assessment, you should provide a citation that reflects this source.

Format:

Author, A. A. (Year). Title of the platform. URL

Example:

Gallup. (n.d.). CliftonStrengths. <https://www.gallup.com/cliftonstrengths/en/home.aspx>

In this case, "n.d." indicates that there is no specific publication date available.

In-Text Citations

When referencing the Clifton StrengthsFinder in the body of your work, you must also include in-text citations. The format for in-text citations varies based on whether you're using a parenthetical or narrative style.

- Parenthetical Citation: (Gallup, 2001)
- Narrative Citation: Gallup (2001) states that...

Best Practices for Citing the Clifton StrengthsFinder

To ensure that your citations are accurate and effective, consider the following best practices:

1. Verify the Source: Always confirm the details of the source you are citing, including the publication date and author name.
2. Use the Latest Edition: If you are citing a book, ensure that you are referencing the most recent edition for the most accurate information.
3. Check for Updates: Online platforms may change, so routinely check the URL and citation details for accuracy.
4. Follow APA Guidelines: Always refer to the latest APA manual or the APA website for updates on citation formats and guidelines.

Common Mistakes to Avoid

When citing the Clifton StrengthsFinder assessment, avoid these common pitfalls:

- Neglecting the Author: Always include the author or organization responsible for the assessment.
- Incorrect Formatting: Pay attention to punctuation, capitalization, and italics in your citations.

- Missing URLs or DOIs: If applicable, include URLs or DOIs for online sources to make it easier for readers to access the material.

Conclusion

Citing the Clifton StrengthsFinder assessment in APA format is essential for maintaining academic integrity and enhancing the credibility of your work. By understanding the different citation formats and adhering to APA guidelines, you can effectively incorporate this valuable assessment tool into your research, papers, and presentations. Be diligent in verifying your sources and keeping your citations accurate, as this will not only support your arguments but also contribute to the broader academic discourse surrounding personal and professional development.
