Understanding Human Trafficking

Human trafficking is a grave violation of human rights that involves the exploitation of individuals through force, fraud, or coercion. It encompasses various forms, including sex trafficking, labor trafficking, and domestic servitude. Victims can be men, women, and children, and they often come from vulnerable populations.

Types of Human Trafficking

There are primarily two types of human trafficking prevalent in Texas:

- Sex Trafficking: This involves the illegal trade of individuals for sexual exploitation. Victims may be forced into prostitution, and the crime often intersects with organized crime.

- Labor Trafficking: In this
