[illegible]

Model Response

In the excerpt provided, the author employs introspective language to illustrate the protagonist's internal struggle with identity and societal expectations. The repetition of the phrase "Every morning when I wake up, I find myself facing a reflection that feels alien to her" establishes a routine that emphasizes the protagonist's sense of entrapment. This routine conveys a feeling of monotony and despair, as the protagonist finds herself facing a reflection that feels alien to her.

The use of the word “기괴” (strange) highlights the disconnect between the protagonist's self-perception and her outward appearance. This choice of vocabulary effectively evokes empathy from the reader, drawing them into the character's emotional turmoil. Furthermore, the juxtaposition between the protagonist's true feelings and her friends' perceptions underscores the theme of societal pressure. The phrase “친구들은 내가 행복한 사람이라고 생각한다” (they think I am a happy person) reveals the protagonist's struggle to maintain an image that does not align with her inner self.

The author's narrative style is characterized by a first-person perspective, which fosters a deep connection between the reader and the protagonist. This intimate viewpoint allows readers to experience the protagonist's emotions vicariously, enhancing the impact of her internal conflict. Additionally, the metaphor of “가면 ” (I have to act) serves as a powerful image of the façade she must maintain, effectively illustrating the broader theme of authenticity versus expectation.

In conclusion, the author skillfully uses language and narrative style to convey the protagonist's inner conflict. Through introspective language, vivid imagery, and a first-person perspective, the text invites readers to reflect on the complexities of identity and the pressures imposed by society. This analysis demonstrates the depth of the protagonist's struggle, making it a poignant exploration of self-discovery.
